martinwolf Executive Perspective

Vince DeLuca, Logicalis

In June's issue of Executive Perspective, martinwolf interviews Vince DeLuca, CEO, Logicalis. Vince is responsible for all aspects of Logicalis, Inc. and US operations. He joined Logicalis in December, 2010 as the Chief Operating Officer responsible for the overall strategy of Logicalis, Inc. and was named CEO in July 2012.

In the interview, Vince talks about some of the major challenges and opportunities facing solution providers, particularly concerning the cloud. He notes that the pace of technological change is accelerating, creating a scenario of positive disruption for both Logicalis and the industry as a whole. Vince also discusses the rise of software and its impact on traditional infrastructure, his thoughts on Cisco's future, and what's behind the M&A strategy for Logicalis.

Vince closes with his perspective on the current state of the global economy, addressing macroeconomic trends and their impact on the industry as a whole.

Vince DeLuca

To read the complete interview, click here.

To receive instant analysis on the day's business news from the martinwolf team, follow us on Twitter @martin_wolf_ and on LinkedIn at martinwolf.

About martinwolf

Walnut Creek, CA   Bangalore, India

With offices in the San Francisco Bay Area and Bangalore, India, martinwolf is a leading middle market M&A Advisory focused on companies in the IT Services, IT Supply Chain, IT-Enabled Business Process Outsourcing and Software as a Service (SaaS) space. Since 1997, our team has completed more than 135 transactions in nineteen countries and sold seven divisions of Fortune 500 companies.

The firm is also a presenting sponsor of the Global IT M&A Forum.

martinwolf is a member of FINRA and SIPC. For more information, visit www.martinwolf.com.

To learn more about martinwolf, contact Matthew Putzulu at mputzulu@martinwolf.com.